All Wooing Voters Now With Pledges To Reduce Taxes

Eisenhower Joins In Theme Song With Promise To Balance Budget In Two Years If He's President

By The Associated Press
The top contenders for presidential nomination were on record Thursday to cut taxes if elected. The Democratic front-runner, however, said isolationism would dominate their party if either gets to the White House.

Taxes were a topic in talks Wednesday by Ohio Sen. Robert Taft and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, running one-two in the race for Republican presidential nomination.

They, in turn, were a topic in an address by Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who has more delegate votes lined up than any of his rivals going into the Democratic presidential-nominating convention.

In Denver, Eisenhower told Oregon's GOP convention delegates he would balance the national budget if he were president. This, plus seeing to it that the Allies are as militarily strong as Russia, would make tax reduction possible he said. He estimated this would take about two years and after that would come a "steady shrinkage" in the tax load.

TAFT, in a Washington speech said if he becomes president he will seek "a straight 15 per cent cut in taxes" and a $25-billion slash in federal spending—from $85 to $60 billion—within two years.

Talking to CIO Communications Workers in Cleveland, Kefauver said: "No matter what Republican is in the White House, the Republican isolationist policy will dominate the party."

Averell Harriman, who beat Kefauver about 4-to-1 in the District of Columbia's primary Tuesday, predicted confidently: "I will win the nomination."

Democratic nomination requires 616 delegate votes. The Associated Press pre-convention tally gives 246 to Kefauver, Sen. Richard Russell is in second spot with 114½, followed by Harriman's 91½.

TAFT's nationwide total of 466 is tops in The Associated Press Republican score sheet. Eisenhower has 393. Nomination at the GOP convention July 7 in Chicago calls for 604.

THE LAST 10 GOP delegates will be named in Illinois Monday at a Springfield convention. All are expected to go for Taft, although Eisenhower forces are seeking an even split.

Utah's 14 delegates Wednesday signed a letter reaffirming their support of Taft. The action was aimed at quieting a commotion stirred by GOP State Chairman A. Pratt Kessler's comment that six of the group might back Eisenhower on the second ballot.

The Utah delegation, officially pledged but avowedly pro-Taft, visited Eisenhower at Denver Tuesday. Kessler's statement followed that meeting.

The Republican National Committee, meanwhile, is scheduled to hold hearings starting July 1 in Chicago on formal contests involving 72 delegates in Texas and six other states. This formidable total could swing a tight nomination race either way.

Taft and Eisenhower backers take opposing sides in the disputes, almost certain to wind up on the convention floor.

The battle in Texas was particularly hot. Taft people said 32 of Texas' 38 contested delegates were named in districts and, under party rules, were the concern of state party machinery, which is pro-Taft. Eisenhower's camp said all 38 contests required settlement on the national level.

The GOP national committee Wednesday upheld this latter viewpoint.

Military Budget Of France OK'd

PARIS, June 19—(AP)—The French National Assembly Wednesday night approved a 507-99 vote a military estimate bill allotting 830 billion francs ($2,300,000,000) for France's armed forces. Only the Communists voted against the measure.

Forty-two per cent was parceled out to the Army, 36 to the Air Force and 22 to the Navy.

The approval covered the remainder of France's four-billion-dollar defense bill for this year. The rest already has been allotted.

Habitual Thief Back In Jail; Operation Did Not Cure Him

PITTSBURGH, June 19—(AP)—A 43-year-old man who has spent half his adult life in prisons—but who won a parole three years ago after voluntarily submitting to a delicate brain operation to curb his "urge to steal"—is back in jail.

Millard F. Wright refused to discuss his case after he was arrested for questioning in connection with a string of jewelry store burglaries.

When detectives asked him if the brain operation had been successful he shrugged and replied, "With me it wasn't."

Detective William Harris arrested Wright Wednesday night after apprehending Regis Spiane, 44. The officer said he picked up Spiane's trail during a routine pawn shop check which turned up a watch listed as missing from an Indiana, Pa., jewelry store.

SPIANE said he had bought the watch from Wright. Shortly after-

Quadruplets Born; Girl And 3 Boys

All Healthy, Although Premature; Seven Youngsters In Family Now

WEYMOUTH, Mass., June 19—(AP)—Mrs. Marion L. Manning, 27, is now the mother of healthy quadruplets.

Three boys and a girl were born to her at South Shore Hospital Wednesday night. She has three other youngsters.

The first child, the girl was born at 9:23 p. m., the second at 10:13, and the third and fourth 11 and 16 minutes later.

The babies, all placed in incubators, were reported to weigh between two and three pounds each and to measure about a foot long. Several hours after the last birth, hospital physicians reported their condition as fair.

All four births were described as normal by Dr. Robert R. Ryan, who delivered the babies with the assistance of Dr. Edward J. Howley.

Dr. Ryan said that Mrs. Manning was doing well and will be allowed to sit up today if she feels strong enough.

MRS. MANNING entered the hospital May 24 for a virus infection. She remained there until the births on advice of her husband John, a 35-year-old bus line operator, who explained he did not want to risk a premature arrival without medical attention.

"What would I do if they came while she was at home," he said.

Manning was not at the hospital when the first birth occurred. He had left word with the hospital officials that he would remain at home awaiting a phone call.

His wife went into active labor one hour and 18 minutes before the first birth.

The babies were baptized quickly after birth by the Rev. William J. Commune, a Catholic priest. The first baby, hospital officials said, gave a healthy scream as the water was poured on its head.

HOSPITAL officials described baptism so soon as the "usual precautionary measure." It is often done in premature births.

The infants, due Aug. 15, were nearly two months premature, but physicians explained that such multiple births rarely go full term.

According to medical sources quadruplets occur once in every 680,000 births.

X-rays taken at the time Mrs. Manning entered the hospital in May indicated she would give birth to quadruplets.

Nurses at the hospital said Mrs. Manning "was wonderful throughout. When she was having severe pains early in labor she never murmured."

The spare, white-haired Dr. Ryan said, "It is a great responsibility to deliver so many babies but it is a privilege for a physician, too."

Radcliff Warns County Needs 30 More Ground Observers

An urgent call for men and women volunteers was issued Thursday by Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff, head of the local ground observer unit of the civilian defense organization.

The sheriff's appeal for more help in the observer classification came on the heels of plans for a 24-hour sky watch in 28 states along the east and west coasts and the Canadian border.

Radcliff said his group is seriously short-handed, and the proposed round-the-clock watch would throw a virtually impossible burden on personnel already listed.

At least 30 more volunteers are needed immediately for observer work in this county, he said.

AWAITING FORMAL notification of the 24-hour watch, scheduled to start July 14, the sheriff said he hoped to have the county's five observation posts manned by at least two persons at all times during the emergency period designated by the air defense command.

Normally, each post should have a crew of 18 persons. Radcliff said anyone interested in volunteer work for the ground observer unit should contact the branch's headquarters at Elsea airport, north of the city, or notify him personally.

He explained he had another reason to build up adequate personnel without delay inasmuch as plans are under way for a civil defense demonstration at the airport.

State officials have said they will stage the demonstration for civil defense crews as soon as a request is filed from the county.

"I want as many as possible to see that display," the sheriff explained, "and some sections of our ground observer organization have dwindled away in the last several months."

RADCLIFF, ECHOING a recent warning by Ben H. Gordon, county civil defense director, emphasized public laxity here has brought about a dangerous lag in county defense efforts.

"Our section here is vital," the sheriff said, "and probably a good deal more important than a lot of people think."

"We don't want to be one of the weak-sister counties in Ohio, dragging our feet on the rest of the state. There should be an immediate and sustained effort to bring personnel up to par—not only in the ground observer corps but in all other branches of the county organization."

Cool Areas Are Small On Weather Map

By The Associated Press

More cool Canadian air spread over wide areas in northern states from the Rockies to New England Thursday but it continued warm and humid in the South and some eastern states.

Temperatures dropped to the low 40s in some sections of the cool belt early Thursday. At the same time readings were near 80 in some southern states.

The warm and muggy weather extended over the Gulf states while it was warm northward to the Ohio Valley and Middle Atlantic states.

Hot weather continued in the far Southwest.

The cool zones extended over most of the upper Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi Valley and westward through the northern plains states to the northern Rockies, and in the northeastern states.

Lawyer Disbarred

COLUMBUS, June 19—(AP)—Louis A. Gertner, 45, of Columbus was disbarred for life Wednesday as an attorney in Ohio. A five-judge court unanimously found him guilty, of offering Columbus Patrolman Paul E. Jordan a $50 bribe to change his testimony in four gambling cases.

Drew Pearson Punched Again For Accusations

Capital Lobbyist Resents Charges He Aided Spain

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—Drew Pearson has been punched again.

And the man who threw the punch, $75,000-a-year lobbyist Charles Patrick Clark, says it couldn't have landed on a more appropriate target.

"I felt I'd be unfaithful to my Irish forebears," Clark told reporters, "if I didn't do something." The one-blow encounter between the columnist-commentator and his critic—who, in turn, had been raked over the coals twice in Pearson's column—occurred after lunch Wednesday in the lobby of the fashionable Mayflower Hotel.

Pearson, 54, weighs 175 pounds, Clark, 44, weighs around 180.

There were varying accounts of the incident but they agreed on this detail: one punch was thrown—a straight left. It grazed Pearson's cheek and left a smarting red spot on his neck.

Pearson went to the U. S. attorney's office and swore out a warrant charging simple assault.

CLARK arranged to be in court Wednesday to answer the complaint. He's a lawyer. He worked for the Truman War Investigating Committee when the present occupant of the White House was a senator. Now he's registered as a lobbyist for the Spanish government.

Pearson said Wednesday night he didn't get a chance to return Clark's punch and wasn't sure if he would have, anyhow.

"I don't conduct altercations in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel," the columnist said.

Clark said he was bothered by several things. The columnist has written recently that he (Clark) was getting American money for Spain faster than Generalissimo Francisco Franco could spend it. Also, Clark blamed Pearson for helping defeat Sen. Brewster (R-Me.) in Maine's Republican primary election last Monday.

Pearson was pummeled by Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, at the Sulgrave Club in 1950. He's suing McCarthy and others for $5,100,000.

$531 Tip Is Left But Cops Take It

ORANGE, Va., June 19—(AP)—The well-dressed stranger who walked into the restaurant here "just had to have corned beef."

When the waitress brought him a hamburger steak instead, he took a couple of bites and departed—leaving behind a $531 tip.

That's the story blonde Mrs. Viola Devivi, 22, told police here Wednesday night. And it's the story that had officers scurrying all over this Central Virginia town trying to find the mysterious stranger.

Two customers, who were not identified, told police they saw the man empty his pockets and hide the tip under a plate before he left.

Police say they'll hold the tip for a year and then if it's unclaimed it will go to Mrs. Devivi.

Mine Town In Turmoil

Women's Patience Finally Gives Out

MORGENTHAU, W. Va., June 19—(AP)—The ladies of nearby Granville, W. Va., population 1,000 decided on a summer house-cleaning spree Wednesday—and as a result:

(1) A big coal cleaning plant and two good-size coal mines were forced to close.

(2) About 700 men were thrown out of work.

(3) Mayor Clinton Cairney had to call a special meeting in Town Hall to calm the ladies down and persuade them to permit the biggest industry in this area to go back into operation.

It was dust from the coal plant that made the ladies so angry. They scooped it up with brooms and dust pans, flicked it at it with feather dusters and sucked it up with vacuum cleaners—day in and day out, they said.

Well, they finally got tired of it. About 40 of them marched down to the Christopher Coal Company's cleaning plant yesterday and set up picket lines.

The men came to work, eyed the determined ladies with embarrassment, then meekly returned home. With the big coal cleaning plant and tipple closed, the company had no alternative but to shut down its Arkwright and Osage mines.

HASTILY Harry Myers, field representative for the United Mine Workers, issued an announcement. We have nothing to do with the situation and certainly are in no position to control it, Myers announced. Then he retired from the scene.

That put the problem in the lap of Mayor Cairney. He opened Town Hall last night and invited the ladies to come in and talk it over.

"I've had to take down my washing as many as three times in one day because of this dust," complained one irate housewife.

"You can't even sit on your front porch or leave your winders up," scolded another.

But the mayor proved to be a master diplomat. He had contacted the company, a subsidiary of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, he explained.

And Operations Manager Charles Nailler promised to get in touch immediately with the firm that sold the equipment and see if something can't be done.

The ladies listened. They were intending to go back to the plant and re-form their lines at midnight when another shift was scheduled to come to work.

But after hearing the mayor, they decided to allow the two mines and the big cleaning plant to resume operations.

But, said Mayor Cairney, if the company doesn't do something to get the situation corrected, I can't even guess what the women will do next.

Special Taxes Proposed For Aiding Schools

SANDUSKY, June 19—(AP)—State taxes on cigarettes and soft drinks have been suggested to the Ohio Association of School Administrators to help finance school construction.

The recommendations were reported by Carl H. Shanks, superintendent of Clinton County schools and chairman of the Ohio Education Association's legislative Planning Committee. He addressed the school administrators as they closed a two-day meeting in nearby Cedar Point.

Shanks stressed the recommendations were not official proposals, but rather initial suggestions from school administrators and educators from throughout Ohio.

His report suggested one or more of the following taxes: A one-half cent or a one-cent tax on cigarettes or a one-cent soft drink tax.

Aid Requests Come In From Mine Families

Possible Action Revealed By Truman At Press Conference

PITTSBURGH, June 19—(AP)—Philip Murray's striking CIO United Steelworkers are beginning to show signs of financial hardship as the 18-day-old walkout bites ever deeper into the national defense program.

Walter Klis, president of a big steelworkers' local at Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. in Pittsburgh, says several requests for financial assistance have been received from steelworkers' families.

The powerful union does not provide strike benefits. However, most of its locals are reported in healthy financial condition and ready to aid any hardship cases.

Referring to his members, Klis said:

"They're just running out of money. So far we have referred them to state and county welfare groups but we plan to set up our own welfare organization this week."

IN ADDITION to the 650,000 striking steelworkers, more than 100,000 in allied industries have been laid off as a direct result of the strike. Most of the 100,000 are employed by railroads and coal mines, but the crippling strike is also being felt in other fields.

One of the hardest hit sections is Alabama, where more than 25,000 steelworkers and coal and iron miners now are idle. The steelworkers union says there are hardly any hardship cases among strikers.

In Philadelphia, what is believed to be the first union shop agreement in the basic steel industry was reached between the Midvale Company, which employs about 3,500 workers, and Local 18887 of the AFL Federal Labor Union.

With the union shop, a major issue reportedly blocking a settlement of the dispute between the basic industry and the USW, Midvale employees received a 12½-cent hourly pay boost plus other benefits to bring each worker a package wage increase of from 22 to 24 cents an hour.

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—President Truman said Wednesday he is considering use of the Taft-Hartley act in the steel dispute.

He indicated at a news conference he has doubts, however, the 650,000 striking CIO Steelworkers would obey a court order to return to work.

The President said his decision as to whether he will invoke the Taft-Hartley law will not be influenced by Senate or House action.

Truman also told his news conference taxes should be increased rather than decreased as advocated.

G-E Workers Vote 3 To 1 Against Union

Circleville General Electric plant workers Thursday emphatically turned thumbs down to a proposal to unionize the plant.

Plant employees voted by a margin of three to one against having union representation.

During the special NLRB election Wednesday, 163 of the 215 ballots cast were in favor of "no union," 38 voted in favor of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO) and 14 voted for the Glass Bottle Blowers of America and Canada (AFL).

Ed Grigg, manager of the local GE plant, reported three ballots were cast by servicemen on military leave. Those ballots were cast by Jim Denman, Bob W. Kinn and Norman Hill.

IN ADDITION, Wayne McConaughy, on sick leave because of a sprained ankle, hobbled into the lobby of the plant and the NLRB agent brought the ballot box to him so he could cast his secret vote.

In a former attempt to unionize the plant, local workers rejected the move by about the same margin shown in Wednesday's balloting.

Stoutsville Man And Wife Hurt In Crash

An elderly Stoutsville man and wife were injured seriously Wednesday in a three-car crash on Stoutsville Pike.

They are B. F. Alkire, 66, and his wife, Florence Alkire, 69.

The wife suffered a fractured right cheekbone, deep lacerations on her knee and shock, while her husband suffered two fractured ribs and a deeply lacerated right hand.

The accident happened at about 7:25 p. m. Wednesday on Stoutsville Pike, about 5 1/2 miles east of Circleville.

DEPUTY JOHN White said autos operated by Cloyce Smith, 26, of Stoutsville, and Mrs. Ward Skinner, 22, of 901 South Washington street, were travelling west on the road, while the Alkire car was turning onto the highway from a side road. None of the persons in the other two autos were hurt seriously, White said. All three autos were badly damaged.

Ingrid Happy Now With Twin Girls

ROME, June 19.—A wan and weary Ingrid Bergman shed tears of joy Thursday as she got her first good look at her day-old twin daughters.

Eight Violators Fined $90 In Mayors' Courts

Four motorists were fined a total of $45 and costs Wednesday in the court of Mayor Ed Amey for traffic violations.

Porter Winner, 47, of 430 North Court street, was fined $5 and costs for "disregarding a stop sign at Washington and Ohio streets. He was arrested by Officers Leroy Hawks and Earl Martin.

Ira Fulk of Columbus was fined $15 and costs for speeding at 65 miles per hour on Route 23. Fulk was arrested by State Highway Patrolman S. J. Hobar.

Herbert Haller of Derby was fined $15 and costs for failing to stop in an assured clear distance on Route 62. Haller was arrested by State Highway Patrolman R. L. Sanders.

And V. D. Young of Byer was fined $10 and costs for crossing a yellow line. Young was arrested by State Highway Patrolman J. W. O'Neil.

Four other traffic violators were fined $45 and costs Wednesday in the court of South Bloomfield Mayor Walter Heise.

Paul Henderson, 23, of McArthur Route 1 and Willis Leathers of Findlay were fined $10 and costs each in the court for crossing yellow lines.

Don Formica of Columbus was fined $10 and costs for speeding at 50 miles per hour through South Bloomfield; and Escly Cheetwood of Reynoldsburg was fined $15 and costs for operating an ambulance at 70 miles per hour.

All four arrests were made by State Highway Patrolman J. W. O'Neil.

Hit-Skipper Loses License

John Haughn, 22, of Ashville Route 2, had his driving rights suspended for three months Thursday in Pickaway County common pleas court for leaving the scene of an accident.

In addition, Haughn was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail, suspended in favor of probation.

Haughn was arrested by State Highway Patrolman J. W. O'Neil in connection with an accident which happened June 8 in Ashville.

Patrolman O'Neil said the Haughn car skidded through a stop sign and into a parked auto owned by William Painter.

Tracing the driver down was easy, the patrolman added. The crash ripped off the rear license plate of Haughn's car at the scene.

No, unless he wants to put the country more in the hole than it is now, Truman replied.

THE SENATE has voted a request that Truman use the Taft-Hartley law in the steel dispute and there are signs the House will follow suit.

Pressed as to why he has not used the Taft-Hartley act, the President said the union waited 99 days before striking and he was not sure the T-H law would work.

The T-H act permits a court order, good for 80 days, against a strike which imperils the national security.

A reporter asked if Truman was implying the union might not obey a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Truman said he was. Under questioning, he said he believed they would work under seizure.

Lad, 11, Hurt When Bike Hit

Dale Friend, 11, of Amanda Route 1, escaped with minor injuries at about 1:30 p. m. Wednesday when his bicycle was struck by an auto on Route 674.

State Highway Patrolman J. W. O'Neil said the youngster rode his bike into the path of an auto operated by Rosa Smith, 33, of Circleville Route 4.

The woman motorist swerved in an effort to avoid hitting the bike, O'Neil said, but struck the bicycle and a tree.

Although the lad's bike was demolished, the youngster suffered only bruises and contusions of his left leg.

Ohioans Injured In Plane Crash

MARTINSVILLE, June 19.—Arthur Ertel, 42, of Blanchester, and his wife, Helen, 37, were injured when their plane crashed east of this Clinton County town Wednesday night, police reported.

The plane barely missed a family group on the lawn in front of Russell Hodson's home on State Rt. 28, they said.

OSU Specialist Explains Dairy Cattle Judging

Fifteen 4-H club members and their parents from sections of Pickaway County late Wednesday attended a demonstration of dairy cattle judging technique at the farm of Ray Carpenter in Muhlenberg Township.

Ray Starbuck, extension service dairy specialist from Ohio State university, led an informal discussion on judging methods and pointed out details to be checked by young judges.

County Agent Larry Best and Associate Agent Don Herr participated.

A similar gathering will be held next Thursday to discuss beef judging at the Paul Teegardin farm, Ashville Route 1.

Poor Timing By Motorist Brings Fine

Joseph Canterbury of Columbus was arrested early Wednesday near Shadeville by State Highway Patrolman J. W. O'Neil—but he had to work for it.

O'Neil said he was on patrol early Wednesday when an auto tagged up behind the plover car.

"We were going along about 50," O'Neil said, "and stayed that way for a couple of miles."

"Then, when we got to Shadeville, this guy pulls out around the patrol car and passes over a double yellow line. I had to go to 70 to catch him."

Canterbury was fined $15 and costs later in the court of J. P. Wilson in Columbus for passing in a non-passing zone.

Junior Livestock Program Planned

Pickaway County 4-H club members and their advisors are invited to attend a Junior Livestock Day program Friday in Plumb Hall, Ohio State university.

The county extension service said the event will begin at 9:30 a. m. and last until mid-afternoon.

The program will consist of judging, fitting and showing of sheep, swine and beef cattle.

Two Building Permits Granted

Two building permits were issued Wednesday by the Circleville zoning and planning commission.

J. W. Walters, of 111 East Water street, was issued a permit to build an addition to his home for an estimated cost of $800.

Dr. Edwin S. Shane, of 202 Northridge road, received a permit to add a porch to his home. Cost of the work was set at $700.

Local Man Fined, Sentenced And Loses License

John Miner, 46, of Circleville Route 4, was fined $50 and costs, lost his driving rights for two more years and sentenced to 10 days in jail Wednesday in Pickaway County common pleas court for drunken driving and driving when his license was revoked.

Miner was fined $25 and costs, sentenced to five days in jail and had his license suspended two more years for drunken driving; and fined $25 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail for driving under revocation.

The man was relieved of his driving rights for a period of five years when first appearing before the court last fall.

Miner was arrested last weekend by Deputy John White following a minor accident on Route 188. He is to serve his 10-day sentence on weekends and rainy days.

The Route 4 man appeared before the court of Judge William Radcliff on affidavits presented by Prosecutor Guy Cline.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—One of the never-ending wonders of Washington is the amount of virulence claimed by both sides in a controversy. The most recent example is the dispute over postmasters.

Under the present system postmasters of the first, second and third class are chosen by the President, provided the Senate approves. The Senate can kill his appointments. President Truman has asked Congress to change this.

He suggested that all postmasters be put under civil service in such a way that the President and the Senate would have nothing to say about appointments at all. He said the postmaster general, a member of his Cabinet, should make them.

The Senate rose in its wrath yesterday and said "No." So the system stays as it's always been. This power over the selection of postmasters, with all the political patronage involved, was too much for the senators to let go.

SEN. McCLELLAN, Arkansas Democrat, said the President's plan, although 93 per cent of all government workers are under civil service, would "destroy the democratic process that keeps the government close to the people."

This was really putting senatorial power and political patronage on a high plane. Senators favoring the plan went up to a pretty high plane, too. They said the plan would be the biggest advance in civil service reform in 70 years.

Sen. Eastland, Mississippi Democrat, may have come closer to the reality when he said that even if the Senate approved "postmasters still will be politically selected . . . the only result will be to deprive the Senate of passing on them."

There's no law saying the postmaster can't consult with local politicians and with congressmen and senators on a candidate for postmaster. He could still do it, even if the Senate voted to cut it off and the President out of the picking.

The postmaster general alone now picks postmasters of the fourth class without the President or the Senate as a whole getting in on the act. So if the Senate approved the President's plan, the postmaster general could do with the first, second and third class postmasters what he's free to do with the fourth now.

ALTHOUGH he fell 1,500 feet down a cliff in the San Bernardino Mountains of California, Kenneth Wright Jr., 10, will live, doctors report. According to boys with whom he was playing, Kenneth dropped 200 feet and then hit a 1,000-foot slide for a second fall. He escaped with internal injuries and a concussion. (International)

U.S.-Czech Relations Stalemate As Long As Oatis Held In Prison

WASHINGTON, June 19 — President Truman was quoted as saying relations between this government and Czechoslovakia cannot be improved as long as Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis remains in prison.

Ellis O. Briggs, U. S. ambassador to Czechoslovakia, made this statement to reporters after a White House conference with Truman.

Oatis was imprisoned April 23 on espionage charges for doing what the free world considers legitimate reporting.

Ellis said the President expressed concern also over the long imprisonment of Jan Hvasa, another American citizen who has been imprisoned by the Communist government of Czechoslovakia for four years on espionage charges.

Briggs, who has been in Washington for consultations with the State Department, paid a call on the President preparatory to leaving sometime next week to fly back to his post.

HE SAID he and the President discussed American - Czech relations, touching on Oatis' case and other matters.

"The President renewed his expression of concern about Bill Oatis and declared that relations with Czechoslovakia cannot be improved as long as he remains in prison," Briggs said.

With the exception of the Oatis family and newspapermen, Briggs added, no one is more concerned about the case than are American government officials.

The ambassador was asked about reports of negotiations which might lead to an early release of Oatis, but he would not discuss them. He said he didn't believe speculation along this line would be helpful and that it might make very much more difficult, the efforts being made to obtain his freedom.

He said the case is being kept before the Czech government daily and has been ever since his imprisonment.

Woman Who Lost $700 Is Still Hunted

WILLOUGHBY, June 19 — Fruit Farmer Max Rautenberg of Kirtland said that unless the woman who lost $700 claims the money soon he will distribute it to his neighbors.

"No chislers need apply," Rautenberg told a reporter. "Every crackpot in the country has written to me already, demanding I give them the money."

Rautenberg found the $700 wrapped in a handkerchief, in front of his fruit stand last August. He is sure a Slovenian woman customer from Upper New York state dropped the money, but he has been unable to find her.

He said he has spent his own money advertising in Ohio and New York papers, to no avail.

For My Surgeon"

Based on past records, 48,796 persons will be rushed to hospitals today. This year 1 out of 9 persons in the U.S. will be hospitalized. That means 1 person out of your family or your neighbor's is due to become a hospital case within the next year. And 60% of those cases will require surgery. More than 25,000,000 smart persons have already taken out some form of hospital plan.

Rates Never Raised
Because the WHITE CROSS PLAN employs standard underwriting procedures to develop a select group of lives, it has never found it necessary to make a single upward adjustment in general rates. You kept the rate you started with, even if you started at the 75c child's rate; it did not increase when you became an adult as long as you stayed on this, your original policy.

We Pay Your Hospital, Your Doctor or YOU!
It's "your money" and subject to your orders. You just tell us where to send your check.

$ Pays hospital room and meals from $4 up to $15 per day, up to 100 hospital days per year, per person.

$ Pays Surgeon's fees from $5.00 to $250.00 for operations in home, hospital or doctor's office.

$ Pays for X-Rays; medicines, treatments (as specified) given in hospital, even though not bed patient.

DOES CRIME PAY?

ALVATORE MORETTI, described as one of the most notorious lawbreakers in the nation's history, is dead at the age of 41. He did not die a gangster's death for the simple reason that for once in his long and lawless career he was in jail.

The Senate crime committee had asked fully how he made $84,000 in 1949 when he had no visible means of support. He told the commission he had lost his books, and fell back on his "constitutional rights." He was sentenced to from two to three years in jail, and was on the point of being paroled when he died. Previously he had served six months on a charge of contempt.

Moretti's career, typical of scores of others in crime, emphasizes a situation which shows the futility of the law in coping with those of his kind. Almost from birth Moretti has operated outside the law, as did several of his seven brothers. He finally became a big-time gambler, operating what was called a million-dollar dice game, living in royal splendor, apparently immune from the law.

He was brought to book only through income tax investigations, and then given a few months in jail. In nearly 40 years of crime, during which he was associated with the most notorious characters in the underworld and made millions of dollars, Moretti served a term usually meted out to petty thieves.

The fight against organized crime is far from successful.

NEW SCORING SYSTEM

FOLLOWERS OF baseball have noticed a change in the manner of scoring games. In the past runs, hits and errors were given chief consideration. There were other factors, such as times at bat, to arrive at batting percentages, and assists also figured, but principal interest centered in runs, hits and errors.

More recently recognition has been given to the number of runs batted in, commonly referred to as RBI's. Hits which do not produce scores are of little importance except to fatten a player's batting average, and are of little value to the club's league standing.

Life in general should be scored in a similar manner. More persons should give thought to what their efforts actually amount to in a constructive way. No matter how carefully an effort is planned, it is of no avail if there are no results.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The keynote at most national conventions is a distinguished politician who is selected, generally as temporary chairman, to pep up the delegates on the opening day. While he must be an orator with a great voice and forensic powers, his speech is rarely a literary masterpiece.

Often the keynote is one who might have been a candidate had fate not been unkind. He is generally popular enough to attract a good audience for the Monday night opening.

The Democrats have this year selected Governor Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts as their keynote. He is an amiable Democrat and will make a routine speech supporting the Truman Administration, defending its policies and denouncing the Republicans. It will be such a speech as Truman might have made himself, but more oratorical, with a flavor of humor.

The Republicans have chosen as their keynote one of the greatest orators of our time and a personality that evokes emotions, pro and con, as no other American does, General Douglas MacArthur. Unquestionably his speech will be the high note of the convention. The last person to address any political gathering of this nature, whose oratory equalled MacArthur's, was William Jennings Bryan.

In spite of the fact that many men live by making speeches, the masterful orators are few. Daniel Webster, Robert Ingersoll, William Jennings Bryan, Douglas MacArthur are among the few. Abraham Lincoln was not an orator, although his Gettysburg Address lives as a literary classic. Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech, wonderful as it was at the moment, is no longer even in the "speech" books, as they nowadays call exercises in elocution.

Douglas MacArthur's "Old Soldiers Never Die" speech will not be forgotten by this generation, as his "Farewell to the Army" speech is often referred to as an example of significant oratory. John Gunther wrote that General Eisenhower helped to prepare that speech. A stylistic comparison between any of MacArthur's work and Eisenhower's Abilene speech surely proves that MacArthur rolls his own.

So, at this opening night of the Republican Convention, Douglas MacArthur will have the opportunity of a lifetime to use his literary and dramatic abilities to start the convention with such fervor as only Billy Sunday could arouse among the penitent. It could outlast the convention and bring unity in support of an American ideal which would capture the imaginations of millions who will listen on radio and television.

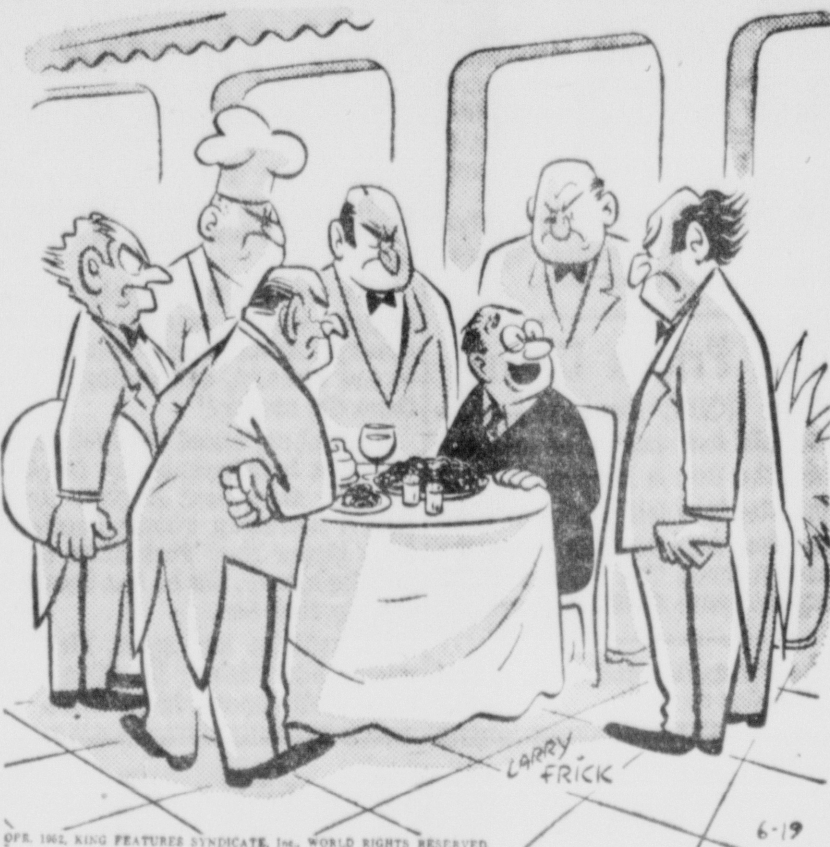

Two objections were made to Douglas MacArthur:

1. He is a Taft supporter;
2. He is on the active list in the Army and therefore should not engage in politics.

As to point 1, it has been customary for the keynote to deal with issues, not with personalities. It is not likely that General MacArthur will break that precedent. In fact, at one convention, Mrs. Clare Luce spoke in favor of Senator Vandenberg before the nomination time and it was bitter.

Misuse of Antihistamine Drugs May Be Exceedingly Dangerous

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE public should be warned that antihistamine drugs can be dangerous, even deadly poisons, if misused or used to excess. And this mainly happens when people do not seek the advice of their doctors before using such drugs.

Antihistamines have become fairly popular lately in the relief of allergies, hay fever, hives, eczemas, asthma, etc. Though much publicized for colds, they do not seem especially helpful against this common complaint.

Large Doses Dangerous

Some people, however, have been foolish enough to think a larger dose would help more than a small one and they have been severely poisoned. Children, as well as adults, have also been poisoned by accidental overdoses.

A heavy dose of an antihistamine may create a condition of extreme excitement, and the person may have hallucinations—imagines he sees things not really there. He has difficulty in walking and co-ordinating his movements. His face usually becomes flushed, and he may run a fever.

These drugs are especially dangerous because they do not irritate the stomach or make a person nauseous, as do other drugs. Thus, he does not vomit them, and has no warning that he has taken a dangerous dose.

Coma, Then Death

As the poison affects the system, it brings on convulsions.

The BOOK of the CRIME

by ELIZABETH DALY

SYNOPSIS
When Gray Austen discovers his wife, Rena, holding a slim paper-bound book in her hand, he becomes so furious that she flees the house in terror. She manages to reach Henry Gamadge, noted bibliophile detective, who on hearing her story decides to hide her in his household. Why, she asks Mr. Gamadge, did the sight of that little book, the story of some ancient crime, so terribly disturb her husband? Seated with the great authority on old books and scripts in his study, Rena tells him all about herself and Gray and their marriage. She and Gray had been happy enough together in their old brown stone house until his brother and sister, Jerome and Hildreth, came on from the west to join them. But they had come at Gray's own bidding! While they chat young Ordway, a neighbor, drops in casually to visit Rena, but Gamadge points out that the indiscretion of any young gentleman calling on a missing wife may cause trouble for that wife. Why had a nice watch word now? Ordway asks his grandmother about the Austen family, for she had known them all her life. Gray Austen had never met his benefactor uncle, because the families lived widely apart. But when Gray had gallantry in the war reached him, it turned out the old gentleman and so he favored Gray Austen above all other Austens in his will. Some old friends still wonder about the first Mrs. Gray Austen's death. Why had a nice quiet girl like her tried to find escape in drink, escape from what? Quite a maze, Henry Gamadge agrees, but first things first. He must somehow learn more about that little book.

CHAPTER TWELVE

"The incredible thing is," said Jerome, "that we'd just seen her. Just a few minutes before. She was quite all right then."

"Slipped out, though," said Hildreth. "We looked around and missed her, and Gray went up, and in a few minutes he came down and said he seemed very much disturbed and not herself, and we'd better go up and see what we could do. Mr. Gamadge, he was actually afraid to leave her at large!"

"At large?"

"I'd better admit what a fool I was," said Gray Austen moodily. "I looked her in."

"Oh," Gamadge lighted a cigarette.

"But I didn't mean her even to know it. I thought—I didn't suppose she'd even try the door. She wasn't dressed," said Gray Austen, turning his brooding eyes on Gamadge. "She hadn't her dress on. And in a couple of minutes Novah came in and said the front door was half open, and we went and— but you wouldn't believe what she'd done."

"Quite, quite mad at the moment," said Hildreth.

"Well... I shouldn't care to be locked up myself, dressed or not," said Gamadge.

"But she'd been acting so strangely! Gray," said his sister, "let's just take Mr. Gamadge up and show him."

"I locked the door," said Gray, his insistent gaze on Gamadge, "because I was frightened myself." He got slowly to his feet. "And she did just what I was afraid she might do."

"Clears the voice," thought Gamadge, "to tell the truth."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, June 19 — A long deadlock and possible failure of the Korean peace talks, it is now known, was forecast by high-ranking army men, when President Truman and Secretary Acheson decided to bar the exchange of Koje prisoners who refuse to return to North Korea. With the Panmunjon conferences still fruitless after ten months of negotiations, they have proved correct.

The inside story of the Truman-Acheson decision reveals that it was an ideological rather than a military approach to the problem, as were so many ill-fated, Roosevelt-Churchill orders to field commanders in World War II. As Eisenhower and Bradley opposed Yalta-Potsdam agreements, so their successors are skeptical of today's interference by Washington.

GODSEND — The original surrender leaflets showered over enemy troops contained no guarantee of permanent refuge in our ranks. They simply promised humane treatment, an offer designed to offset Communist warnings that we mistreated and massacred all captives. To hungry, weary and demoralized troops, this prospect of succor from battle hardships and casualties was a godsend.

There was no ideological fine print in these tracts, as printed and distributed by military authorities on the scene. More than half of our 170,000 prisoners, it is figured threw down their arms only for bread-and-butter, body-and-soul reasons.

The Truman-Acheson afterthought was an attempt to make anti-Communist propaganda in the global "cold war." It was designed to convince the world that even ignorant and illiterate Korean peasants prefer a democratic to a communistic way of life.

OBJECTIONS — Military men, however, raise numerous practical objections to this innovation in surrender terms. For one thing, since only a handful of our people speak the various North Korean and Chinese dialects, all interrogation and screening of prisoners are done by native interpreters. We must rely on them for honest and intelligent execution of an extremely difficult psychological operation.

Secondly, the final test of the prisoners' attitude is whether they will "forcibly resist" repatriation. Having seen our easy-going treatment of the most unruly "commies" before the Koje mutineers forced us to become hard-boiled, it was not difficult for the interpreters to obtain an affirmative answer to this question.

SKIN-DEEP — Army experts also believe that many thousands of the captured accept our offer of refuge solely to escape further fighting, and to enjoy the relatively comfortable conditions in our compounds. They doubt whether these uneducated and untraveled boys from the most backward sections of barren Korea have been "converted to democracy."

In view of the dictatorial behaviour of Syngman Rhee, the South Korean puppet president, we have pampered, financed and kept in office for so many years, the depth of North Koreans' faith in western standards of anything is regarded as only skin-deep.

EXCHANGE — Despite the admittedly good intentions behind the Truman-Acheson experiment, it has several unfortunate aspects that only now are receiving consideration on Capitol Hill, largely because of growing complaints from folks back home, and from sharp critiques by international authorities.

While the peace talks founder on this issue, more than 70,000 American boys—the figure, though tentative, is approximately correct—languish in enemy prison camps. They may even suffer retaliation because of General Boatner's necessary but drastic action in smashing Koje revolts.

We have enough prisoners willing to return home, according to unpublished accounts, so that we can now effect a full exchange on a conventional and historical basis, thus releasing the Americans who otherwise face a killing summer heat under execrable conditions.

So, on Capitol Hill and at the Pentagon they ask: Why not make a man-to-man swap now, without injecting the ideological question into the truce talks?

DUD — The propaganda value of the Truman-Acheson position, it is maintained, will have no lasting effect in a protracted "cold war." The Kremlin is laughing at the threat, and using it to build up strength during the Panmunjon affair.

White House and State have secret reports that our noble attitude on this question has been given no publicity in communist, satellite and even in such neutral states as India, the Middle East and Africa. In those areas, where it was supposed to win us friends, it has been a dud.

DIFFICULTIES — From a broader standpoint, international legal experts say the Truman-Acheson idea may create many novel and troublesome difficulties, should there be a global war.

If persisted in, it may nullify and weaken the Geneva agreements for treatment and exchange of prisoners, as well as for the mitigation of war's horrors, that have been laboriously established since the first convention for discussion of these problems was held in 1864.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

Many young children waken with the birds. If the tot from two to five is always allowed to get up when he pleases in the morning, he may get an hour or two less sleep than he needs.

He also may rob the whole household, especially the mother, of much-needed sleep.

Some parents are able to sleep on in the morning after the youngster gets up by letting him amuse himself with toys. But this early riser then may get into all sorts of mischief by-and-by. If there are other young children, obvious added problems will arise.

When our first child was a baby, we believed the usual silly advice given to parents then and given still—that the baby and young child should be allowed to get up in the morning as soon as he awakens, lest he might learn bad sex habits or resort to thumb-sucking or the like.

Accordingly, his mother on Spring, Summer and Autumn mornings, would have to arise much earlier than necessary.

When our second child arrived, Mrs. Myers believed this youngster could be trained to sleep up to a regular reasonable hour in the morning. She soon discovered it easily could be done, as it also was easily done with the next child.

THE PARENTS of our three families of grandchildren also discovered it can be done. Scores of parents who were students in my university classes from 1927 to 1940 reported the training was easy.

A few parents say that a young child on waking too early will readily return to sleep after going to the toilet or being tucked in, or after a gentle word informing him it is not time to get up. Most successful parents find, however, they must so inform this youngster with finality, even telling him he must not get up or make noise till the clock rings.

There's virtue in the clock because of its certainty. Some youngsters don't accept this information until they get a few smackings on their bare thighs.

Of course, the parent who wabbles, warns, threatens, shouts, whines and jabs hardly will get results, but will only encourage a long-drawn-out battle; and the child who engages in such an indecisive conflict morning after morning may easily find solace in undesirable habits.

But if the program is effected with finality and no doubts in the youngster's mind arise he soon drops back to sleep from the unattractive waking world.

Some youngsters begin very early rising at an early age because the morning battle continues unduly long. Even if it does, setting the clock an hour or two earlier or denying this battle decisively till a regular later time may do the trick.

Also, some youngsters waken too early because of bladder pressure. Much earlier ringing of the clock could help solve this problem. Even to run the risk of an accident might be warranted in the interest of sleep.

Anyway, you young parents can, if you wish, train your baby and young child to sleep till a desirable time the year around.

Q. Sometimes the whining of our son, three, almost drives me crazy. He is checked regularly by our pediatrician. What can you suggest I do about it?

A. Try to provide him with a tranquil, affectionate family atmosphere, with low, soft voices and a silent radio most of the time. Look into your ways of managing him so that he rarely hears a command and never hears a repeated command; educate him to amuse himself more and have good fun with other children. Be sure you don't, be letting him have what he wants to have, reward him for whining.

Wilmington Dynamiter Held Insane

CINCINNATI, June 19.—(AP)—Herbert F. Kinner, 42, of Wilmington, charged with the dynamiting of the Voice of America Radio tower at Bethany in October, 1950, Tuesday was committed to the Dayton State Hospital.

Probate Judge Chase M. Davies issued the order on the basis of medical and psychiatric findings. Kinner has been held in the Lima State Hospital for criminal insane since last month.

The commitment takes precedence over a federal indictment charging Kinner with destruction of federal property.

KINNER was held in the medical center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo., from Feb. 14, 1951, until last May 7. A federal judge there ordered his release, however, on a writ of habeas corpus and he was returned here for proceedings in probate court. The case was to have been heard in Clinton County but the probate judge there asked Judge Davies to assume jurisdiction.

Investigation of the blast at the radio tower showed Kinner obtained 80 pounds of dynamite at Yellow Springs. At the time of his arrest he told authorities the Voice of America had been sending messages to him accusing him of crimes and calling him bad names.

Ike's Moths Gone, But Her Spirit Still Bathes In Home

By RELMAN MC

NEW YORK, June 19.—Dwight Eisenhower's was not there when he left Abilene the other day, has gone now.

The spirit of her, the very essence of this so strong that it breathes every corner of their deed, the old house is self-portrait, something and colored forever with deep shades of person.

Her niece, Mrs. Fay, still lives up the road. She calls her "Aunt Ida." "She must have been strong," I said, "as a very strong woman." "She was," Mrs. Fay said. "Of them all, Aunt Ida was the most vivid, the one of course, you would look at her."

In the photographs of a young woman, her chin and pointed. Her eyes, about her mouth, and the faintest shadow of a smile. Her hair is thick and dark in the picture. In her is that same intimation something felt rather. Her eyebrows are high, and they give her an expression.

This expression may have been very marked when she pretended that the boys had taken dough from the Old Dutch dough tray in the rolled it into balls and ing catch behind her.

And all her life she not to recognize the "Ike," although every boys—and not Dwight was known as "Ike" or another. "Ike?" she sweetly. "Who is Ike?"

She was an intense woman. The family names of her sons birth dates, lies open in room. In the book signed editions of "Bible," "Our Beacon Light," "Life of Christ," and "Religious Devotions." Framed from the Bible hang two brass bedsteads in she kept for herself, and band.

All this is just as it she went away for the. Except for one thing is a thing she would not mitted, if she had been cause she never allowed lie around. Her wedding white silk and lace, ally across her bed for see.

It is a size 10, small woman. Yet, she maintained a for five boys and a man, by herself. She made some of their clothes on the sewing machine in the bedroom, handled the family washing, baked her own bread and pies, and stirred up cauldrons of a mysterious dish called "pudding meat." The way of making it seems to have been lost.

"And so Aunt Ida never was able to go out very much," says Mrs. Etherington. "She was always at home. I don't think she wanted to go away from the house."

She had an egg-warming dish in the kitchen, with four holders for the eggs, but she used it to keep her money in. The small household expenses were paid out of this dish.

They may have lacked for money, at times, but their home was a treasure house of good living, of warmth and comfort and books and music—she tried to teach each of the five boys the piano—and especially of a woman's loving care.

It is all there today. And so is she.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Hardin College

An Associated Press dispatch in my newspaper reports that the House of Representatives has "voted tax relief to all members of Congress." As one of your constituents, I am perfectly willing to approve your action if you will vote exactly the same tax relief to all of us back home. Otherwise you and your colleagues in Congress are being unfair; you are setting yourselves up as a "vested interest," voting yourselves special tax exemptions not applicable to other citizens.

Such action is not only unfair; it is dangerous. It sets the people apart from the people you represent. By escaping taxes that you have voted to levy on "the people," you escape the financial problems that are a constantly expanding part of our lives as government grows bigger and bigger. You lose the common touch. You cease to be a true representative of the people. You become a special class. You shirk carrying your part, a citizen's part of the tax load. Thus, to you, taxes lose their true nature, their paralyzing effect, their inherent danger.

THE AP dispatch says that by an "unrecorded" vote the House has voted its members and the members of the Senate permission to deduct all "living expenses" incurred in Washington when you make out your income tax return. "Unrecorded" means that no Congressman stood up to be counted publicly for or against the "Tax Relief for Congressmen - Only" measure—doesn't it?

Nearly all representatives and Senators live in Washington year-round, only periodically visiting the district which they represent. Therefore this special exemption you're voting yourselves means, in effect, that most of the expenditures in the Congressman's family budget can be deducted. In fact, the AP dispatch says that the Income Tax people in Washington interpret the term "living expenses" in the "Tax Relief for Congressmen-Only" measure to mean food, housing, transportation and "other expenses." Therefore, Congressmen might not have to pay any income tax at all.

WE CITIZENS know what you're up against. It's tough trying to live in Washington on $15,000 a year, with taxes what they are and with inflation sapping the purchasing power of the dollar. But if you think living in Washington on $15,000 is tough, you ought to come home and find out what it's like here on $4,000, and $5,000 and $6,000—before taxes! The statisticians report that Federal taxes alone now are taking $477 on the average each year from every man, woman and child. For the family of four, it averages $1,908.

Another way to put it is that total government taxes now use up 32 per cent of the total annual income of all the people and all the companies in America! And still another way to state it is that taxes now claim an amount equal to the total income of all the people and companies west of the Mississippi River. If you think this isn't hurting us, in spite of the allegedly painless tax extraction methods of payroll deduction and indirect taxation on consumer goods, you need to come home and look the taxpayers squarely in the pocketbook and bank account.

YES, MR. CONGRESSMAN, it is high time to do something about tax relief. But with your "Tax Relief for Congressmen - Only" measure you're not shooting square. Nor are you facing up honorably to a bad situation. Your trouble is that Federal taxes are too heavy. You're admitting that. You're fixing things so these crippling taxes won't cripple you.

But we citizens are in trouble too. What about us?

This letter is being mailed to my Senators too. They are hereby asked to reject the "Tax Relief for Congressmen - Only" proposition. Together the House and the Senate can cut your taxes and ours too by drastically cutting down the size of the Federal government and by exposing and kicking out the grafters and the big spenders. All the people I know will back you to the hilt in this.

P. S. The time has come for sincere, honest Americans to stand up and be counted on all votes. I am writing out of deep concern for my country's future.

Snake Upsets Plan Of Demonstrator

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 19—(AP)—Marlin Perkins, widely known director of Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo, was posing for TV cameramen Tuesday with a non-poisonous four-foot chicken snake. Suddenly the snake gave him a painful bite on the neck.

Perkins, invited here to suggest improvements for the Memphis Zoo, delayed treatment until after he addressed a civic club where he demonstrated the proper way to handle snakes.

Hand That Rocks Cradle In Old Japan Soon Will Rule The Roost

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—Papa-San is taking it on the chin in Japan.

"Honorable Father" is slowly losing his age-old power over Mama-San, or "honorable mother." The theory of male dominance is setting in the land of the Rising Sun, just as it set in America a generation ago.

Soon the hand that rocks the cradle will rule the roost in old Nippon, just as it now does in most of the Western world.

The twilight of Far Eastern Manhood was forecast in a recent dispatch from Futakawa village on the Japanese Island of Honshu.

The village elders there, bowing to changing times, voted that women were to have a holiday the 15th of each month, on which day men will wash, cook, and do all the other household chores.

In a lame justification of this retreat from traditional masculine authority, the elders told the women they were expected to use their holidays to "elevate their cultural standards."

But if they really think Mama-San is going to spend her new leisure studying flower arrangements—well, they just don't know Mama-San.

I will lay these village wise men 3-to-1 odds that before the year is out Mama-San will be going into politics, organizing soft-ball teams, and learning to play canasta and blow smoke rings through her nose.

The odds are heavy also that Mama-San will live up to an old Western proverb holding that if you give a woman an inch she will take a mile.

"Why should we have a holiday just once a month?" she will ask. "Let's put our foot down, girls, and get a holiday every week, plus half a day off on Sunday."

And before long Papa-San will be doing the dishes and diapers in dear old Futakawa, while Mama-San runs for public office to oust the village elders who voted her the first holiday.

But the step has been taken, and there can be no turning back. Japanese men lost the second world war abroad. Now they are losing the post-war war at home. "The kimono rebellion" by which women are gaining what they euphemistically call "equal rights."

But the successful revolt of Mama-San will give her new duties and insecurities. Many a woman may later wonder in Japan, as many do now in America, whether her new freedom really

It Was So Easy to Lose 30 Lbs. The Rennel Way

I Did It—So Can You—Rennel Is Wonderful

Mrs. Earl Blakley, 240 Wadsworth Ave., Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, writes: "I have used Rennel and have found it to be an excellent product for taking off excess weight. I am 30 years old and when I started taking Rennel I weighed 160 lbs. Now I am down to 130 lbs. It was so easy to reduce the Rennel way."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get genuine Rennel.

Why CONCRETE is nation's 1st choice for EXPRESSWAYS

Significantly, portland cement concrete is the overwhelming choice for America's rapidly-growing mileage of expressways because concrete is inherently safe. It is skid-resistant, wet or dry. Its natural light color increases visibility at night.

because concrete is economical. It usually costs less to build than other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity. It has long life, costs much less to maintain and cuts vehicle operating costs.

because concrete is satisfying to drive on. Its smooth-riding, even surface improves car control, reduces nervous strain, expedites traffic flow.

It's your money that pays for pavements. Get the most for your money. Insist on highways built with concrete.

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in equipping commercial due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

WE put the price of this Buick in big type because we're proud of it.

It's the price of the six-passenger, two-door SPECIAL—ready to roll.

When you put this price against the local delivered prices of other cars that folks usually associate with Buick — you'll have a hard time finding a single one as low.

When you put this price against what you'll pay for cars with the reputation of being "lower priced"—you'll find why this Buick gives them such keen competition.

And—if you want to go in for extras—you can still add up what goes on the bill of sale of other cars and a Buick—you'll find out that Buick's an even greater buy.

We know that price is important to a lot of folks, especially with the price of groceries—and even baby shoes—where they are today.

But you also want some fun for your money—and that's where a Buick really shines.

Just wait till you give a gentle nudge to the power that's under that big, broad hood and feel your shoulders sink back as this beauty takes off.

You'll feel like the million dollars it cost to perfect its ride, when you sample the steady smoothness of its gait.

It's eager, alert, alive—makes each mile a new experience.

Want to try it? Why not? We're willing to let this beautiful bundle of high-powered energy speak for itself.

Big Name Pros Just Make It In PGA Tourney

'Unknown' Detroit Paces Field With 6-Under-Par Score

LOUISVILLE, June 19 — They've played the PGA championship on all kinds of courses since its inception in 1916 and they don't toughen them up with extra traps, jungles of rough or superslick greens as they do for the Open.

The result is the kind of scoring that took place over Louisville's Big Spring course Wednesday when they turned loose 137 of golf's best professional shot-makers to try for the 63 places in the match play brackets.

One of the "unknowns," tall lean Bob Gajda, went out early in the day and posted a 6-under-par of 66. The rest threatened that score and the course record all day but couldn't beat either.

There were three 67s, five 68s and three 69s and going into today's second 18-hole qualifying round it looked as if the ones who couldn't match par for 36 holes wouldn't get into the first of tomorrow's "sudden death" matches.

THE ARROW indicating the 64th man on the scoreboard pointed at the middle of the 73s at the end of the first day.

Among those who looked as if they might not make it were Ed (Porky) Oliver, runnerup to Julius Boros for the Open title last week; Penny Shute, the last player to win two PGA titles in succession 15 years ago; and Charlie Bassler, a giant-killing semi-finalist in last year's tourney. They all had 75s. Former Open Champion Lew Worsham and Buck White shot 76s and Skip Alexander a 79.

Behind Gajda, a 35-year-old assistant pro at Detroit's Oakland Hills Club, came two tournament stars, Cary Middecoff and Dutch Harrison, and stay-at-home Henry Williams Jr., who went to the PGA final two years ago. They had the 67s.

Olney And Scott Enter Semifinal Play In Tourney

Circleville's Don Olney and Bill Scott crashed into the semifinals of their divisions Wednesday in the district junior golf tournament in Columbus.

Olney breezed through his match in the championship flight to score a comfortable 4 and 3 over Chick Wayforth.

And Scott defeated Terry Wade and six in the second flight of the district junior tournament.

Both linksmen were to have taken a shot at the tourney finals Thursday morning in semifinals matches, Olney meeting Bill Klunk ly resented. General MacArthur will not risk such damage to himself or his cause.

Actually, there are no neutrals in the Republican Party today. It would have to be an Eisenhower or a Taft man. The three possibilities, in terms of rank and leadership, who were available were Senator Eugene D. Millikin, Herbert Hoover or Douglas MacArthur.

Millikin and Hoover bowed out in favor of MacArthur. Both will speak, however: Hoover on Tuesday night; Millikin when he introduces the platform.

Point 2 is a matter that can only boomerang against those who want to make something out of it. General MacArthur is on active service, as a five-star general, by act of Congress as a gesture of gratitude of a nation for services rendered. So are General Eisenhower and General Marshall and a few others. Unless called upon to do a chore for the government, they can engage in any activity they like under the law.

If anyone tried to reconcile the act creating them with the Hatch Act, he would probably find himself involved in litigation up to the Supreme Court.

On the other hand, President Truman could assign General MacArthur to duty somewhere, even back to Korea, but it would look like persecution and not a little mean, and would cost votes in the election.

Also, General Eisenhower was, for many years, General MacArthur's military secretary and subordinate and he could not speak of "the old man" without considerable loss of dignity.

So, General MacArthur will make his keynote speech and nobody will gainsay him in advance.

and Scott teeing off against Bill Swift.

OLNEY SHOT par over the Army course Wednesday to remain a top contender for the title. Klunk, his Thursday rival, registered two-under-par Wednesday in defeating John Buchanan.

Other two semifinalists Thursday in the championship flight were Alan Vierbome, qualifying medalist, who won over Pete French 1-up; and Bob Barton, who handed Dick Ryan Jr. a 3 and 2 setback.

Final round of the tourney for the district championship and flight titles will be held Friday in Columbus.

Vacationers Urged Not To Forget Fire Prevention Needs

Fire Chief Gives Good Home Habits

Spontaneous Fires During Summer Special Threat

Cleveland residents, especially those preparing to leave the city on vacation, had words of caution Wednesday from Fire Chief Talmier Wise.

Wise warned residents not to forget their fire prevention needs during preparations for Summer-time fun, and the hot weather has a few particular fire hazards all its own.

"Spontaneous combustion is usually more of a danger during the hot weather," he said. "This goes especially for the rural areas, where it's often a cause of serious fires after starting in hay or straw. There's a fair chance we'll all have a couple of bad barn fires after the hay-making season. People just forget to be careful."

"To a lesser degree, of course, that's also a danger in the city where small cupboards or cellar sections or some other part of the house is allowed to be sealed off without ventilation. Under such conditions, spontaneous combustion thrives on old rags, oily materials and various other sorts of discard." Chief Wise enthusiastically supported the idea that every home and business should have at least one fire extinguisher.

"It's the cheapest and surest way to stop fires while they're still small," he pointed out. The fire department head emphasized household extinguishers don't have to be of the large type. He recommended the quart or quart and one-half sizes, and suggested that they be placed near the kitchen stove, in the basement or in the garage—or at all three locations.

Chief Wise also called attention to a service offered free to residents and apparently not generally known to the public—that of home inspection by a fireman on request.

"There's no fee for the advice our man is willing to give any resident," the chief said. "We'll tell them what we think of the wiring setup and other safety factors in the home, and the resident can suit himself as to what he wants to do about it. Naturally though, in unusual cases where we find a serious fire hazard we'd have to require that it be eliminated."

The fire department also makes

Manslaughter Charge Faces Photographer

NEWARK, June 19.—Licking County authorities said the case of Charles B. Wilson, Ohio State Journal photographer, Columbus, would be submitted directly to the grand jury at its September session.

After an inquest last week in the death of Miss Patricia Monro, 23, youth page editor for the Journal, in a Buckeye Lake boating accident, Sheriff William McElroy said he would file manslaughter charges against Wilson.

Wilson was the pilot of an outboard motor boat in which Miss Monro was riding on Buckeye Lake, May 19. The boat and a pleasure craft collided, and Miss Monro's body was not recovered for four days.

Large Meteor Noticed Here

A bright meteor streaked across the northeast sky above Cleveland shortly after 9 p. m. Wednesday night.

The "falling star," burning a long trail of "traffic light" green from a head of brilliant yellow, flared with unusual brilliance for a few seconds far above the horizon before it disappeared.

Parents Warned

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 19.—With three drownings here in as many days, Coroner Ernest Sturgis is warning parents to allow their children to swim only in supervised areas.

An annual inspection of business houses. The likely cause of fires resulting from carelessness in the home?

"THERE'S NO doubt about it," Chief Wise replied. "It's the habit of overloading electrical circuits. Many homes had their wiring done before the era of radios, TV sets, electrical heaters, pumps and so forth. Consequently it's easy to overload a circuit by trying to run too many fixtures from the one socket."

"The danger sign is easy to detect, because an overloaded socket will be warm to the touch. But people still risk their properties by the multi-socket mania." Even the long-ferred habit of using pennies in the fuse box ("until I get a chance to get down to the store and buy a fuse") is still a peril, the chief advises. "Hardly a year passes," he said, "without a couple of fires started in just that way."

MARGIE DEARTH (above) of the Salt Creek Victory Stitches 4-H Club, has left to attend the national 4-H camp in Washington, D. C. Miss Dearth was one of four outstanding Ohio 4-H'ers selected for the honor. She has been in clubwork eight years, completed 17 projects and received all "A" marks. The camp program will continue until June 27.

Jaycee Officers To Be Installed

New officers for Cleveland's Junior Chamber of Commerce will be installed at 6:30 p. m. Thursday in Mecca restaurant.

Installing officer for the program will be A. Leslie Brodt of Fairborn, state Jaycee vice-president.

New officers to take office in the ceremony will be "Red" Wilson, president; Ward Skinner, first vice-president; Ed Richardson, second vice-president; Bob Steele, treasurer; Glenn McCoy, secretary; and Roger May, Richardson, Henry Reid, Bud Linn, Paul Campbell and Joe Bell, trustees.

WOOSTER, June 19.—The Rev. Ray Dronfield of the Oakland Park Church in Columbus, named by acclamation, is the new moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Ohio. The synod opened its 71st annual meeting Tuesday.

Bull Stops Train In Head-On Attack

VADALIA, Ga., June 19.—A 1,500-pound Hereford bull stopped a crack freight train cold in an encounter near here Tuesday. The diesel-powered locomotive and eight cars of the Georgia and Florida Railroad freighter, the Blue Goose, piled matchwood style across the tracks after hitting the bull head-on.

How Ohioans Voted On Security Hike

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Here's how Ohioans voted Tuesday as the House passed, 360 to 22, a bill to increase social security benefits:

GOLCONDA, Ill., June 19.—A diver and a salvage expert—both blind—have managed to hoist three automobiles which sank with 147 others on a barge in the Ohio River during a storm last Dec. 18.

Diver Bert Cutting and salvage man Thomas Strickland Sr., went about their dangerous and difficult work as if they could see.

Thomas Strickland Jr., who is working with his father and Cutting to raise the sunken cars, said Cutting's blindness hampered him little if at all in the underwater work. "You can't see down there, any-

President's Plea Ignored By Senate

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Senate, spurning a last-minute plea by President Truman, Wednesday killed a bill to authorize the United States to join with Canada in constructing the $818 million St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

It adopted 43 to 40, a motion by Sen. O'Connor (D-Md.) to return the bill to its Foreign Relations Committee for further study.
